THE GENUINE DR. JAMES POWDER.—In this changeable elimste, COUGHS and COLDS, if neglected, too often prove fatal. Influenza invades our cities, towns, and villages, and carries off thousands yearly. These are modified types of fever, of every kind; all are caused by checked perspiration.

A medicine which, by acting on the skin, will restore the natural flow of that secretion, is therefore what is needed in those diseases and all kinds of fever.

NEW BERT'S JAMES POWDER possesses the properties to produce this, and it does it effectually and speedily.

The experience of 115 years has but increased its reputation and enhanced its value in the estimation of the profession, who largely prescribe it. This signal success has caused many base imitations of it, but modical practitioners have found and schnowledged that ne other preparation is so safe and so efficacious as that manufactured by Messers. Newbery. Even in rheumatism, asthms, and agus it will be found to give great relief, and generally produce a perfect cure.

By following the directions given with every packet and

By following the directions given with every packet and bottle, it can be administered with perfect safety as a FAMILY MEDICINE. As a guarantee, the original and genuine bears the words, "F. COHEN'S FAMILY HOTEL, Wynyard-square, and Margaret-street.—A. COHEN (late of the Framasons' Hall Hotel) begs to inform his friends and the public generally that having leased those extensive premises formerly known as the German Club, he has opened them as a first-class Family Hotel. The interior of this establishment has been thoroughly renovated, and the sitting and bed rooms furnished in the most recherche style. The bedrooms will be found large, lotty, and well ventilated. THE OLD HOUSE IN PARK-STREET'S ADDRESS to Captain O'REILLY, of the good ship Telegraph, on the departure of our Daughter and her Hauband to Brisbane, Queensland.

The pennant floats proudly from over the lea,

Inaband to Brisbane, Queenaiand.

The peanant floats proudly from over the lea.

At her moorings the steamship is panting for sea.

In the midst of confusion, and steam whistles wild,
Fond parents are taking fond leave of their child:

While many a warm heart is bidding adicu
To their friends, now confided to Heaven and you.

May Boreas, in sympathy, temper the breeze
That carries thy gallant barque over the seas;
That God, in his mercy, may smile on the pair
A bard now confides to thy fatherly care.

In return, if the prayer man can offer on earth—
Is in heaven recorded of infinite worth—
Then be this my prayer. May thy kindred e'er find
In the stranger a heart, like these own, ever kind!

THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

Mr. PIDDINGTON desired to ask the Colonial Secretary, "1. Is it true that the Attorney-General has publicly stated that it is the intention of the Government to introduce a bill next session to secure the salaries of the officers of the Logislative Council by a statutory enactment? 2. Is it the intention of the Government to introduce such a bill next session?"

Mr. COWPER said that it was very possible that it might be true. The ground on which the Government would be prepared to adopt this course was, that a similar plan had been followed in a neighbouring colony. In South Australia he found that they had adopted the following recolution.—"The salary of the President of the Legislative Council shall be at least equal to the salary of the Speaker of the said House of Assembly; and the salaries and allowances of the various officers of the said House of Assembly, and the chief clork for the time being of the said Legislative Council and of the said House of Assembly shall respectively be removable from office only in accordance with a vote of the House of which he shall be an officer." The plan seemed to this Government to be a good one, and they would be prepared at the proper time to propose its adoption in New South Walos.

Mr. PIDDINGTON wished to ask the Secretary for Lands, "Have the Government yet come to any decision with reference to the disputes respecting the claim of the Hawkashury Benevolent Society to the Mooki Run?"

Mr. ROBERTSON said that this was a very complicated matter, the dispute having originated in a disputed eccepancy many years ago. It was now, however, in a fair way of being settled under the provisions of the Crown Lands Occupation Act.

MRSSRS. BLAKE AND BROWN.

Mr. BUGHANAN desired to ask the Colonial Secretary, "If the Government is aware that Isidore Maurice Blake, J. J.P., and coroner, has been bound over to keep the peace, by the Yass Bench, for assaulting James John Brown.— had whether the Government incan to remove this gentleman from his position as magistrate and coroner? Mr. Blake had been called upon to make his receives the Government would take the whole matter into consideration, and determine as to what it would be right to do in the naster.

LONGRABLE GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL, AND GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY—

1. In releasing you from further attendance in Parliament, I am happy to be able to congratulate you upon the successful result of your labours during this long and arduous season.

2. Various measures of great importance have been coupleted, and several Acts have been passed calculated to develope the inturests to which they have reference.

3. Prominent among the Acts passed during this session are those which relate to the Alienation and Occupation of Crown Lands—the Gold Fields—the Police Force—the Administration in Insolvency—and the Licensed Publicans.

4. By these enactments, questions of deep concern to the social and material advancement of the community—some of which have for years past agitated the public mind—extension of railway and telegraphic communication shall be used with a strict regard to their economical expenditure.

7. I have had much pleasure in forwarding to the Duke of Newcastle the address which you presented to me for transmission to his Grace, in reference to his despatch respecting the separation of the Clarence and Richmond districts from New South Wales, and I comparatinate the colony upon the determination which has been arrived at by the Imperial Government.

Gentlemen of the Lucislantive Assembly,—

8. I thank you for the supplies which you have voted for the public service. It will afford you much gratification to learn that during the past year there has been a considerable increase, under every head of the revenue, over the amount realized for the year 1860.

Honders and the disposal of the Commissioners who undertook the duty of providing for the representation of New South Wales, at the Enhibition of the Industry of all Nations, to be held in London during the present year, have enabled them to accomplish the object entrusted to them. Their zealous exertions will, I sincerely hope, be rewarded by the high position in which the colony will be placed from this additional proof of its numerous and valuable resources.

10. In bringing this session to a close I thankfully acknowledge the diligence and perseverance which you have shown in the performance of the duties devolving upon you as members of the Legislature. You are now returning to your homes, where many of you have extensive influence to exercise, and duties to perform of hardly less moteent than the labours from which you are now released; and I entertain a confident assurance that, under the guidance of Divine Providence, that influence will be so used, and those duties so performed, as to promote a spirit of order and goodwill among all classes of the community.

11. I now prorogue this Parliament to Thursday, the twentieth day of February next.

Pive persons were fined 10s. each, and two 20s. each, on conviction of having been found drunk in the streets. Two vagrants, apprehended under similar circumstances, were sentenced to be imprisoned—one, three calendar months, and the other, fourteen days

Jeremiah Bacon was brought before the court on warrant, charged with having violently assaulted Margaret Campbell. Prosecutrix deposed that, on last Thursday afternoon, a famale resident in her house came home in a cab, of which defendant is the driver, and had not the money to pay the fare; she (witness) refused to lend her the money and defendant became very abusive; witness dealred him to leave the house quietly and come another time for his money; he curred and swore, and threstened, until witness was about to send for a policeman, when he ras out of the house; he did not drive away, but violently kicked and threw stones at the hall door; when, fearing that the door would be broken in, she opened the door to call a policeman, if one should be within hearing; on opasing the door the defendant gave her a blow on the nees, which alled her at one, behaving both eyes, and causing quite a flow of blood as well from her mouth as her now; from that time until now ahe has been under Dr. Nathan's care. On cross-examination she said, that he may have struck her more than one blow, but she only remembers one; ahe denied that she was at all under the influence of liquor, or that she had offered defendant any provocation. Two witnesses proved that defendant held a stone in the hand with which he struck complainant, and that immediately after the delivery of two blows he mounted his box and drove off, defendant lying on the pathway until carried into the house. Their worships denounced defendant's conduct as in the highest degree cowardly and ruffianly, and ordered him to pay a penalty of £10, with 6s. 6d. costs, or to be imprisoned three months. Mr. Roberta, for complainant, applied for professional costs, and was allowed £1 ls.

George Morgan alias Burns alias Graham, John Wright Crottains, Jones, David White, and John Nolan were brought before the Court by inspector Harrison, who deposed that, in consequence of information by telegram from Victoria, he yesterday morning proceeded on board the Balciutha and apprehended the prisoners for having stolen from the Cross Reys hotel, in Melbourne, a cashbox, containing sixty £5 notes, sixty £1 notes, £6.77-three sovereigns, and £20 in silver; they admitted themselves to be the persons described in the telegram, but denied the charge, which they said was only made for the purpose of showing them up. He prayed for a remand of a week, in order to afford time for transmission of the warrant from Melbourne. Romanded accordingly.

Patrick Mullally, for having endangered public safety by furious riding in George-street on Saturday (being also drunk), was sedered to pay £5, or to be imprisoned contable Finigan, who, in the performance of his duty, took him into castedy for drunkenness, and was sentenced to pay a penalty of £3, or to be imprisoned one month.

CITY IMPROVEMENTS.

We are not able to report by this smit the commencement of any large building works in Sydney, but most of those we have noticed in previous Summaries are advancing towards completion. There is not at present much inclination manifested to erect buildings as investments of capital, the principal weeks now in hand being carried on either by the Government or by public institutions. Upon the expenditure of the appropriations lately voted for a Public library, for a District Court, and for proceeding with the University, there is likely to be greater activity in the building trades.

The additions to the Australian Museum are being actively proceeded with. The present contract is only for the principal floor of the building; the completion of the wall, the rooting, and the internal fittings being left to be provided for by a subsequent vote. The foundations are inished, and several feet of masonry are in at the north-castera corner.

Parliament having voted £5000 towards proceeding with the University building, it is intended at once to complete the tower, the cloister at the back, and other parts that are at precent in an unfinished state.

The erection of St. John's College, in the University enclosure, is advancing rapidly. All the arches of the chapel and the anti-chapel are im, and the girders of the second story are being fixed.

The enlargement of the Destitute Children's Asvium at Randwick is in a forward state, the masonry being about half up the middle story. The building is to be finished next September.

Some further steps are being taken towards the completion of St. Andrew's Cathedral. By a recent mail, orders were sent to England for a considerable number of windows, and the size of the moulds of others are being forwarded by this mail.

The School of Arta is undergoing a further alteration in the lengthy-seven feet by thisty-six feet, and in place of the three half which is bei

TUESDAY, JANUARY 21, 1862.

YESTERDAY, Parliament was prorogued until the 20th of Pebruary next, with all the customery formalities. Considering the uncertain state of the weather, there was a large attendance of visitors; not less than seventy ludies were present.

Despatches relating to the mail service, received from the Imperial Government, were laid before the House by the ATTORNEY GENERAL, and an order was r side that they should be printed.
The Governor, at about twenty minutes to four o'clock, entered the House, and was received at the door by the President and the principal officers of the Council.

By the direction of his Excellency, a message was sent to the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, requesting that House to attend.

The hon, the Speaker, and the members of the Legislative Assembly having been introduced into the Council Chamber, his Excellency, in the name and on behalf of her Majesty, assented to the following cleven bils: "The Police Regulation Bill, the Sale of Liquors Licensing Bill, the Unlawful Administering of Poisons Bill, the Caborne Wallsend Coal Company's Bill, the Bulli Coal Company's Bill, the Richmond Bridge Act Amendment Bill, the Law for False Pretences Bill, the Navigsble Waters' Protection Bill, the Law of Felo-de-se Amendment Bill, the Loan Bill, and the Appropriation Bill for 1801. 2.

His Excellency reserved the bill authorising a treaty to amend the law relative to Customs payable on the Gueensland boundary until her Majesty's pleasure should be signified thereon.

The Governor then addressed to the two branches of the Legislature the speech which will be found in another column.

This terminated the proceedings.

THE SPEAKER took the chair at twelve minutes past three p m.

In answer to Mr. Piddington, Mr. Cowper said that it was quite possible the Attorney-General had publicly stated that it was the intention of the Government to introduce a bill next session to secure the selaties of the officers of the Legislative Council by a statutory enactment, intimating at the same time that the Government were prepared to adopt this course in imitation of a neighbouring colony.

The Speaker reported a message from the Legislative Council, returning the Loan Bill without amendments.

In answer to Mr. Buchanan, Mr. Cowper said no reply had been received from Henley, relative to his statements about the Chinese.

In answer to Mr. Buchanan, Mr. Cowper said that a compliaint had reached the Government from Mr. Brown, against the coroner at Yass, who had been called upon to make an explanation.

In answer to Mr. Piddington, Mr. Robertson said that the disputes respecting the claim of the Hawkesbury Benevolent Society to the Mooki run, were a complicated and difficult matter, but were in a fair way of being settled.

In answer to Mr. Garrent, Mr. Robertson said that no report had yet been received from Mr. Commissioner Griffin relative to the charges against Mr. Cooper, but that a numerously signed memorial in favour of Mr. Cooper had been forwarded to the Government.

The Speaker reported a message from the Legis-

The SPRAKER reported a message from the Legislative Council, returning the Bulli Coal Company's Bill without amendment.

In answer to Mr. Morrica, Mr. Robertson could not say how long it would be necessary to keep under quarantine the districts proclaimed for that purpose, that Parliament would determine the question of compensation, and that the Government of this colony could not interfere with cattle going into Victoria.

After the latter motion was carried, Mr. Buchanan condemned in very strong terms the "monstrous racess" of which the Judge had been guilty in Mr. Collins's case, by violently taking from his service an aboriginal boy.

Returns were ordered on the motion of Mr. Lucas, relative to the travelling expenses of Government officers.

Mr. Wernes laid on the table papers relative to steam postal communication, which were ordered to be printed.

A petition from certain citizens of Sydney, relative to the Field of Muse Common, and another from certain mechanics and labourers of Sydney, about immigration, were ordered to be printed, on the motion of Dr. Lako and Mr. Hoskins, respectively.

Mr. Buchanan moved for papers relative to the reprieve of Skanahan, commenting at the same time on the inconsistency of the course pursued by the Government in this case as compared with others.

Mr. Forster seconded the motion.

On the motion of Mr. Holrovo, petitions relative to the Licensing Bill were ordered to be printed, from the inhabitants of Malgoa and Penrith, and from citizens of Sydney, as also one relative to the encouragement of colonial wines, from the inhabitants of Black Creek and Stanhope.

Mr. Dalolinian withdrew his motion for papers relative to steam-dredge at Shoalhaven.

On the motion of Mr. Dalviss, petitions were ordered to be printed, from the inhabitants of Blaney and King's Plains, and Guyong Cornish Settlement and surrounding districts, respectively.

The sergeant-at-arms introduced the Usher of the Black hod, with a message from the Governor, calling upon the House to attend the ceremony of prorogation in the other House.

The House rose for the purpose at twenty minutes to four p.m.

Ir, as we have heard, the private instruction Ir, as we have heard, the private instructions to Governor Grey are to make peace with the natives of New Zealand at all sacrifices, then the proposals of his COLOMIAL SECRETARY are intelligible. There is a complete reversal of the policy of Governor Browns—an utter repudiation of the conditions which he proposed to the natives—a total subjection of the colonial to the aboriginal interest. When we say aboriginal interest, we mean the demands of the natives, not the line of action which would be in the long run conducive demands of the hatives, not the line of action which would be in the long run conducive to their peace and prosperity. The land which the late GOVERNOR declared to be private property is now to be disposed of by a tribunal of the most marvellous structure—and to which none but the colonists will submit. Road-making, as a right of Government, is to be abandoned; a right of Government, is to be abandoned; murderers and thieves are to have the privilege asylum; the future sale of land is to be submitted to the native Runanga. And, finally, the Kino movement is to be no longer opposed! It is justly remarked by the Southern Cross, that the issue of the war "is to found an independent beingdone in the centers of Reitital natives. In no single point have the natives submitted or compromised. Taranaki is in ruins. Murderers and robbers have received guarantee of safety if they remain cutside the English border. The Maori royalty has acquired the prestige which sagacity, perseverance, and courage assure to every triumphant cause. With that proud temper which characterises the aboriginal these successes will be collected. cesses will be followed up. Not a moment will be lost to show the colonial Government that it is contemptible for its vacillation as well as for its military weakness.

We do not imagine that Sir George Grey would report this disgraceful programme to a British minister, had he not been authorised British beforehand to secure peace on any terms. An enormous sum has been spent to enforce the plainest rights of the Crown and obligations of the subject. It had better have been cast into the sea. It would have been far better to have said to the colonists at first that they would be left or rather permitted to defend themselves. The indecision of this shameful war would not then inspirited their enemies or chilled their own self confidence. The volunteers of New Zealand have shown the true British metal, while officers of high rank have dis played a timidity, amounting to cowardice, and have only damped the vigour of these generous defenders of their hearths and homes, on whom they have too often imposed the most onerous and disgusting duties connected with camp life. If the native has reason to dispise the policy of Government, and to mock its military impotence, the colonists of New Zealand are little disposed to dispute the justice of such contempt. And will this disgraceful abandonment of the duties of Government the property of settlers-the claims of crimina justice, and the respectability of the British name, secure the peace which it professes to seek? Will it prevent the natives holding themselves armed, disciplined and alert, to dis themselves armed, disciplined and alert, to dispute at any point the action of Government, and, in any time of national trouble, to sweep it utterly away? The wiser course would have been, when this war placed the future policy of New Zealand at the disposal of the Crown, to have pushed the British authority to its utmost limits. Those military and civil returns. have pushed the British authority to its utmost limits. Those military and civil measures, which all colonizing countries have found indipensable, should have subdued and garrisoned the territory. The natives thus divided might have been reconciled to the position of British subjects, and have turned their thoughts to peaceful industry. The converting the been recifical industry. industry. The opportunity has been sacrificed. It will not be recovered, and the day will come when that native sovereignty which Sir George Grev recognises will be directed by foreign powers, and entail upon the settlers con-sequences which no man could delineate with-out a shudder.

When the course pursued by Colonel BROWNE comes to be tried by the maxims of British Government, as hitherto understood, they will entitle him to the honour of having confided in the consistency of British policy, and interpreted in a constitutional way his duty as a representative of the QUEEN. It is a geat pity he was not told by the British Government that he was to take his policy from the whims of the natives and their English patrons. As it is, it should now be understood that the exponent of British principles is the man who it is, it should now be understood that the ex-ponent of British principles is the man who permits the formation of a native kingdom ex-tending its authority over British subjects— exacting duties—shellering criminals—threatening war, and in a chronic state of hostility to the colonial Government. Had there beer any-even the slightest-ground of com-plaint against the sufferers in this cruel and desolating war, their practical subjugation to the Maori yoke might have been deemed a reasonable penalty; but their only offence is that they supported the royal authority, risked their lives n its defence, and that they were too confident that they would neither have to blush for the ums nor for the policy covered by the flag of old England. But will there be peace? If so, experience is an old song. The most elaborate effort to soothe the vanity and pride of the native chiefs, and to induce them to grant us condonation, only draws upon us their satirical reproof, and is only recorded as a confession of our weakness. The British coldier is reverse to the condonation of the British coldier is reverse to the confession of our weakness. confession of our weakness. The British soldier is never wanting in valour, and his arms will remain untarnished whatever the ssue. But there is a feebleness arising from distracting counsels and factious passions-far more fatal since by every movement it is made more perceptible. Colonel BROWNE would have ensured a permanent peace in the only form known to English law and government. Sir GEORGE GREY has merely smothered a fire but without diminishing its strength or cutting off one connection which may cause it to burst forth at any moment into a fierce conflagration.

Ir will be our duty hereafter to examine the labour of the session, and the conduct of those gentlemen to whom the electors have thought proper to confide our destinies. There are several measures to which we have given our hearty concurrence. There are others that we detest. It is, however, always the custom of Englishmen to submit with good grace to law, and to seek through constitutional methods the correction of those errors into which the wisest Governments sometimes any instant to escape. The congratulations of the Governor have prudently avoided much detail, and chiefly eulogise where it is impossible not to approve the object, if not the mode of its accomplishment.

That considerable increase which we find in

That considerable increase which we find in his EXCELLENCY's speech in the amount of revenue we should be most happy could we discover in our returns. Still more so after those returns have been rigorously sifted. Our views of the "considerable" differ very greatly, according as we are borrowers or spenders. With half-a-crown in our pockets we challenge the world to examine our securities. When the world, taking us at our word, asks her much will serve our purpose we ties. When the world, taking us at our word, asks how much will serve our purpose, we answer, see the Losn Bill that we might make out with the moderate sum of £1,782,370!

The GOVERNOR is thankful for the close of the session, and so are we. What blessings may be conveyed to their homes by the members, we will leave to the appreciation of those who estimate highly the services they have rendered to their country. Some gentlemen must dered to their country. Some gentlemen must really have smiled to learn that they had momentous duties to perform at home, and must also altogether have chuckled at the notion of promoting a spirit of order and good will among all classes of the community. The advice and the occasion were, however, both good, and we fancy that it would have been still better had the GOVERNOR changed a propendent kingdom, in the centre of a British colony, having the prestige of victory both in the council and in the field."

No one will be astonished that even these concessions have failed to satisfy the CHICKET.—Since the arrival of an All-England Eleven in these colonies cricket has formed the almost all-absorbing topic of interest amongst nearly all classes. Great preparations are being made for their reception in Sydney. Friday, 20th, to 27th December.

Thin has been a holiday week, and, as is always the case in this colony, everybody has seemed inclined to make the most of it. There have consequently been but few matters of general interest to record.

The life-boat of the Lochiel, which they were working under canvas, capsised and went down in consequence, as is presumed, of her having been struck by a sudden squali at a time when she was hove-to, being heavily bailasted. Mr. Irwin, of Hunter's Hill, did all he could to save the men, and a boat came from Cockatoo Island for the same purpose, but in vain.

have not hasrd of any serious accident having resulted.

A female, however, had one of her legs broken by a fall from the rocks in the Domain, from whence, with her friends, she was looking at the regatta.

Of the picnic parties, two were on a very large scale, namely, that of St. Benedicit's Catholis Young Men's Society, and that of the members and friends of the Total Abstinence Society.

The latest accounts from the Lachlan show a great improvement of the prospects of that gold-field. The very successful bottoming of a shaft at the southern end has given a great impetus to the exertions of the miners. About 400 yards to the westward of this shaft, a company of miners, under the designation of the Britannia Quartz Reef Company, have got sixteen feet down, and find the loose surface quartz impregnated with gold. They are now following a solid quarta leader dipping to the west. The returns from some of the first claims opened will vie with anything found at the richest gold-fields—not even excepting Bellsarat.

Priday, 27th December to 3rd January.
A GREAT portion of this week has been devoted, like the last, to holiday keeping.
The festivities of Christmas were acarcely over when those which usually accompany the birth of a new year were commenced.

1862 was welcomed in the city as heartily and as noisily as its predecessor. There was just before and after midnight the usual amount of bolt ringing; and a little more, perhaps, thas the usual amount of street music, shouting, tin-kettle-besting, &c., &c. Amongst the religious portion of the public, suitable services were held in the various churches and chapels.

At Randwick there were races. The hurdle race was won by Mr. Farsher's Prince; the New Year's Plate, by Mi. Higgerson's Tartar; the Sapling Stakes, by Mr. Harsher's Alderman; the Prince of Wales Stakes, by Mr. H. Rose's Becky Sharp; and the Free Handicap by Peter Finn.

On the cricket ground there came off the best match of the

At Hunter's Hill, Parramatta River, was a regatta, which, like all the regattas given in that quarter, was very successful.

which, like all the regattas given in that quarter, was very successful.

There were many picnics and excursions on a large scale. An excursion by steamer to Broken Bay, Pittwater, and the mouth of the Hawkesbury. A plonic by No. 4 Company, Sydney Battalion Volunteer Riffes, &c., &c. There was also a temperance fentival at Canterbury, in which 300 persons joined.

The Assembly is still sitting, and has kept pretty close to its work, but as usual the waste of time at the earlier part of the secsion is causing the important business which yet remains to be rather hurried. A resolution has been adopted, affirming the desirable-ness of reassembling in May.

THE SYDNEY MORNING HERALD.

The Estimates are being got rapidly through, and although many reductions have been carried, we have not observed that any of them seem calculated to ripple the public service. Among the votes passed has been one long called for—a sum for the establishment of the control of the victorian digging.

The all-engrossing topic of the day is the contest between the eleven cricksters of England and the eighteen of Victoria, and the other contests of a like nature which are yet to come off. The excitement caused by the receipt of telegrams from Melbourne on the progress of the game has had no parallel since the ending of the war with Russia, when a close siege of every place where news were likely to be procured followed the strivial of each mail. Our own Eleven have embarked for Melbourne to-day amidst the most warm and earnest wishes for their success.

Friday, 3rd to 10th January.

Although the present session of Parliament is drawing towards a close, and although there have been many matters of great importance under discussion among the wise men of the land who sit nightly in Macquarie-street, we are afraid that "the manly game of clicket" has just now a far greater share of attention than the most keenly-contested question of politics.

No sconer had the excitement relative to the match at Melbourne with the All-England Eleven died away than the Inter-Colonial Match began, and has caused, and is causing, an excitement scarcely less intense. As the arrival of each telegram is expected, the Herald Office is completely besieged.

This gives us a foretaste of the excitement which is certain to astend the forthcoming contest with the English Eleven on the Sydney ground.

Great preparations are being made for that event. Among other things there is to be a grand stand in the Dormain, of unusual dimensions. It is questionable whether, even with this help, the Domain will hold all the people who will throng to it on that occasion. It has been proposed to prorogue Parliament on Tuesday next, but the present state of public business, hard as members may work, would appear to render this impossible. There may be a prorogation a few days later.

The late increase of fires on ship-board—evidently the work of incendiaries—has attracted the attention not only of shipowners and shipmasters, but of the insurance offices. A meeting was held at the Exchange, on Monday, to consider the best means of guarding against these misfortunes, or rather crimes. It was decided to recommend an inspection and the locking of the hatches by an officer of the ship after the close of each day's work—the officer to be held responsible; also, a rigorous enforcement of the rule of keeping watch, and an increase of the harbour police for the entoreement of these regulations. A correspondent of the Herafd suggests that as these attempts to burn ships arise from the determination of seamen to leave; if possible, it will be better to ergage men for the passage out only; and that as this may be done at almost sominal rates, shipowners could then afford to engage men at high rates for the voyage home.

Mr. Garnett's store at Little River was recently broken into, and goods to the value of £100 taken. A powerful watch-dog, which died suddenly on these premises some days before, is now suspected to have been poisoned.

A meeting of gentlemen interested in the Northern districts was held at Mr. Clark Irving's residence on Monday, for the purpose of conferring with the Bishops of Newcastle and Brisbane, on the proposed establishment of a new (Anglican) bishopric, to comprise the Clarence, Richanond, and New England districts. It was decided that a new bishopric of "Grafton and Armidale" should be applied for as soon as the necessary funds were in hand. £5000 were required, but as Mr. Irving has himself contributed £2000, this amount will probably be soon made up. £5000 more will most likely have to be raised before the new bishop can be consecrated.

A hutkeeper, named Patrick Murphy, has been murdered at M'Bean's station, Lower Billibong; and a shepherd named M'Donald so severely wounded that his life is despaired of. Ward, late hutkeeper, and another have been apprehended and remanded on the charge of having committed this crime.

The annual meeting of the Society for the Relief of Destitute Children, was held on Tuesday evening under the presidency of his Excellency Sir John Young. This is one of the most admirable, useful, and best conducted of our public institutions. On the 31st December, 1861, there were in the asylum 145 boys, and 116 girls, besides nine boys and six girls now apprenticed to the establishment—276 in all.

The body of a newly born male infant was found lying in a water-hole, on Mr. Bartie's eatste, near Hinten, some days since. It had been strangled by the umbilical cord. Harriet Newton, the mother, who gave herself up, has been committed for infanticide. She denied having strangled the child, but states that having been secretly delivered at this spot, and seeing the child was likely to die she left it there.

A correspondent states that Harry Billett, of the North Shore steamer Ferry Queen, has saved six persons from drowning during the last two years, and regrets that there is no Humane Society here to award medals to this courageous young man. We are inclined to think that the Society's medala could be obtained even here on forwarding a properly attested statement of the fact; but, if not, this is decidedly a case for a public testimonial of some kind or another.

There were besides the driver, four passengers—two Frenchmen, Sergeant-Major O'Grady of the 12th Regiment. One of the Prenchmen Francois Clermond, offered a spirited resistance, and was assisted by his countryman, but not by either of the others. He therefore ran off towards the Flat and aroused the police, who started at once in pursuit of the robbers.

On the 14th a fire occurred at the farm of Mr. R. Childs, on the Nepean River, which consumed 300 bushels of wheat, 100 bushels of oats, and seven tons of hay. This is the third fire in the same neighbourhood, within a short period, the loss in all being estimated at 51200. It is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

Since Friday we have been visited with gentle refreshing showers, which have continued at brief intervals during the lest two days. The quantity of moisture that has fallen cannot, we fear, have penetrated far into the earth, but the effect already produced on vegetation is quite pleasing to the eye. The temperature has also been considerably, modified, and as a cool wind blows—particularly in the morning and evening—the change is altogether most agreeable. There are symptoms of a continuance of rain, which is still much needed throughout the colony.

Between bush and incendiary fires, these some days past, the destruction of farm produce has been considerable. At North Wagge Wagga, the other day, Mr. P. Pennell's wheat crope, valued at £600, was destroyed by fire, believed to have been the work of some miscreant.

Although in excess of the deaths in the corresponding month of 186 (115) it will be seen from the table below that this number is 36 below the average of the same month of the 87 pervious years.

It is satisfactory to observe that the infantile mortality has been remarkably low for this osually trying reason of the year. The deaths of children under five years of age were nearly one-and-a half per went below these of Novumber-3-54 per cent, below those of December, 1860, and 7-13 per cent, below the average of the same neaths in previous years.

CRICKET.

EIGHTEEN OF THE METROPOLITAN CLUBS OF VICTORIA VERSUS ALL-ENGLAND ELEVEN.

ENGLAND ELEVEN.

[FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.]

To institute any comparison between the play of the English and colonial cricketers is out of the question. The latter were immeasurably overmatched at all points. Mistakes were doubtless made by the English players, just enough to shew they were n.en, not gods; but no unprejudiced judge of the game could look at the best performance of any one of the Victorians, Butterworth as long-stop alone excepted, and put it anything like on a par with that of any one of their antagonists. It is now easy to be seen that the colonial players have everything to learn. They have in them, it must be conceded, all the elements that are required out of which to make a team fit to contend on equal grounds with an All-England Eleven; but it is not enough to have quick eyes—they must play with straight bats—they must learn to time their bits accurately—they must be able to hit all round. It is not enough that they bow! straight into the wicket—that nine balls out of every twenty-two abould be so good that such men as Callyn, Griffith, E. Stephenson, Iddison, Laurence, and Mudie were fain to content themselves with simply defending their wickets. They must use their heads as well as their arms; they must learn how to discover their adversaries' weak points; they must study how to make the ball twist, and work, and break back. Above all, they must learn to field. No doubt, Marshall keeps wicket well. He has earned a colonial reputation, and well merits it; but he has something to learn before he can hope to attain the excellence displayed by H. H. Stephenson. Marshall can take a ball over the wicket, or to the off, and none better; but he cannot take a leg ball; he is not ambidexter; he cannot use both hands alike; until he can do this, let no man boast of his wicket-keeping. What has the left hand done that it sheuld not be used equally with the right? excellence displayed by H. H. Stephenson. Marshall can take a ball over the wicket, or to the off, and none better; but he cannot take a leg ball; he is not ambidexter; he cannot use both hands alike; until he can do this, let no man boast of his wicket-keeping. What has the left hand done that it sheuld not be used equally with the right? Stephenson does so. Lockyer does so. Why should not we? The Victorian fielding was often good—sometimes very good. Wardill, Sweeney, Costick, Maco, and O'Mulane—all did well; Wardill in particular distinguished himself. And of Butterworth it may be safely said that there was but little difference between his long-stopping and that of Mortlock, who has the reputation of being second to none in Rugland. But the best of the Victorian fielding was bungling compared with that of the English. Neither must he who would rank as a first-rate rick-stee be content with excellence in any particular part of the game, and medicerity in the rest. H. H. Stephenson is "a eplendid bat"—"one of the best bowlers, batters, and fielders in England." Sewell "bowle and bate exocedingly well, and is a good man all round." Eight out of the eleven who have visited our shores are entirely to be depended upon as batmen, fielders, sud bowlers. Can the Victorians say as much? They certainly cannot; and until they can, they must not hope to take their stand among first-rate players. Before they can do so, they must do what the least good among their antagonists have done, namely, reduce cricket to a science. Nothing but practice will accomplish this—practice under competent mast<sup>2</sup>s; not such practice as the Victorian cricketer is woth to take, when, evening after evening, a wicket is stuck up with a net behind it to stop balls which are not hit. A net is a very good thing in its way, where only two or three players are in the field, as it saves time in going after a ball. But, when there are enough to field, it is painful to every good cricketer to see all the men crowding to bowl or bat, and not a man off cricket—they must first learn to imitate them in their steadiness.

With eighteen men in the field opposed to eleven, much might have been done had practice together made them as perfect as they ought to have been. But they had no practice—neme at all. Instead of finding them daily occupying the posts they were to fill in the match, and doing their very utmost everywhere, on the very few occasions on which they did practise together, they were, with very few exceptions, listless and inanimate, smoking pipes and cigars, and evidently without any heart in what they were doing. Had the best horse in the colony been so trained, however good his qualifications, he would have been easily distanced by a far inferior animal on whom the best attention had been bestowed, afth the Victorians, by their apathy and indifference, showed either presumption, ignorance, idleness, or impecunically. The contrast between them and the English was very marked. No seemer did they commence practice than they kept it unday after day for six or eight hours, working like so many carthorses. In neglecting to practice than they kept it unday after day for six or eight hours, working like so many carthorses. In neglecting to practice than they kept it unday after day for six or eight hours, working like so many carthorses. In neglecting to practice than they kept it unday after day for six or eight hours, working like so many carthorses. In neglecting to practice than they kept it unday after they for the mind they kept they have been been they have been and the six of the sound that sufficient money was not forthcoming to enable them to devote their time in this way. It is possible, certainly, and I fear, if it be the case, it is irremediable. No one has any money now in Melbourne. 25,000 well dreased people torians threw away their solitary chance. It is possible that sufficient money was not forthcoming to enable them to devote their time money was not forthcoming to enable them to devote their time in this way. It is possible, certainly, and I sear, if it be the case, it is irremediable. No one has any mosey now in Melbourne 25,000 would dreased people can spend each his 5s. a day for four consecutive days to see English cricketers, but how many among the 25,000 would by their subscriptions promote any scheme which had for its object the employment of professional men, such men as Caffyn and the rest, or offer any inducement to them to settle in Anstralia, and train our men and lads to equal them? Of the English play it must be conceded it was matchless, in these colonies at all events. Mistakes were certainly occasionally made, but no doubt a good deal was owing to the men having been two months at sea, and not having beat time to get themselves into condition. H. H. Stephenson's wicket-keeping was a picture; his quickness were extraordinary, and not less so the small number of balls which he allowed to pass him. Iddison, at point, was wonderful. His catch of Elliott was something that will not be forgotten. Lucrence, also, who took point while not be forgotten. Lucrence, also, who took point while not be forgotten. Lucrence, also, who took point while not be forgotten. Lucrence, also, who took point while not be forgotten. Lucrence, also, who took point while not be forgotten. Lucrence, also, who took point while not be forgotten. Lucrence, also, who took point while not be forgotten. Lucrence, also, who took point while not be forgotten. Lucrence, also, who took point while not be forgotten. The catch of the catch of the lips showed themselves fully equal to the cocasion. But were I to enumerate a bard will not be forgotten. The properties of the colonial remark I should fill your columns. Where all is excellent, to draw my distinctions or particularies is invidious. Their prompitude, unity of the properties ther throughout, neither too hot nor too cold, but just what best smited them. The spectacle was far beyond what the most eager enthusiast could have anticipated—one that no one can ever forget, and that will probably be never repeated. It could not have been surpassed.

The All-England admit to a man that they were, in all things agreably surprised. In the voyage, which have been roobed of its terrors; in their reception, of which they had no previous conception, in the weather, which has not been so hot as many English summer days, in the city of Melbourne, which they did not dream was half the size, or had half the fine buildings in; and, las ly, in the cricket-field; the company, which was out and out the largest before when they had ever played; and the play to which they were opposed. They freely allow that the Victorians are by no means, contemptible opponents. Two or three of them said, "The Victorians can send an eleven to the Canadas and United States that would give twenty-two of either a jolly good licking." Something of this I set down to compliment. But this I will say, had Wills and Hammersley taken the places of Morres and Rennie, had incessant practice, combined with rational abstinence, brought, the colonials into perfect conditions, and had twenty-two mon been allowed instead of eighteen, I believe the game would not have been so one-sided. That, under any circumstances, the Victorians could have wen, I do not for a moment think; but I do think that they would not have been better cricket on both sides, for the English would have risen with the occasion. Hitherto they have been taught not think they were "half hore, half alligator, with a cross of buffalo, and could whit her weight of wild cata." but they can't whip the Ragish. A lessen has been read to them that may have a good and lasting effect. If they have been taught humility—if they have been taught to to undervalue fielding—if, in short, they have been taught to to undervalue fielding—if, in short, they have been taught to to underval

NEW SOUTH WALES v. VICTORIA.

The Seventh Intercolonial Match between New South Wales and Victoria was commenced on Thursday, January 9th. His Excellency Sir H. Barkly, accompanied by Lady and Miss Barkly, and Captain Bancroft, appeared on the ground. At this time many of the two Elevens were practising, but on learning the Governor's arrival, arrangements were at once made for immediate commencement of the game. The Victorians, having won the toss, decided on going in first; and at five minutes past twelve the New South Wales players, headed by New-combe, took their stations in the field. Ward acting as Captain, and distinguished from the rest of the men by having three stripes down the front of his shirt, and Thompson taking the wicket, and being dressed in a conspicuous plum coloured shirt and cap. The others were very neatly attired in plain white fannel. The umpires were, for New South Wales, Mr. Curtis; for Victoria, Mr. Smith. The scorrers Mr. Hipwell and Mr. Keddie. NEW SOUTH WALES v. The match was concluded on January 11th. This result was an unexpected one. Just before the commencement of the match, except from a very few enthusiasts, longer odds could not be obtained than four to three on Victoria. Ward's inch-handed twisters, and Klinick's "subtrumeans," were regarded slikely to prove formidable obstacles to the success of the Victorians; while the reputation of Gilbert, N. Thompson, Newcombe, and Kettle as bats, added to the report that several new players had been included in the eleven—not inferior to the best among them in wielding the willow-left no reason to doubt that the Victorians had their work cut out for them, the more when it was considered that the fielding of the New South Wales Eleven had always been excellent, new South Wales Eleven had always been excellent, network the work of the merching the work of them every opportunity for exercising the work of them every opportunity for exercising the work of them was not one of the team, and that the places of Hilliard, Howell. THE LATE CAPTAIN LAME, R.N.—We regret to announce the death of Captain Lamb—one of our most eminent, useful, and respected colonista—which took place at his residence, Larbert Lodge, on Friday, 17th instant. His age and weakness prepared his friends to expect this event. Formerly a member of the old nomines Council, he was afterwards elected twice as a representative of Sydney, when that position was filled by men like I owe and Wentworth. Captain Lamb took a conspicuous part in the political affairs of the country. Like many other men of station and education, he joined in the efforts to obtain "free institutions," and was peculiarly opposed to a nominee Upper House. He warmly joined the opposition to transportation, and co-operated in the seconstitution, he retired for some years from public life, but on his last return from England accepted a seat in the late Legislative Council. He distinguished himself by the truly English tone of his opinions; and when liberty ran into licentiousness he gave his support to the conservative party. He was offered a seat in the present Council by Mr. Cowper, but under restrictions which he did not think it consistent with his honour to accept, and though not unfriendly to the Government, he protested in language full of dignity and patriotism. This was his last act in public life, which was respected for its purpose and conduct, as his private character was estimable for its purity. Captain Isamb was a commander in the Boyal Navy. Having settled in this country he was distinguished in mercantile affairs for that honour which was once the prominent characteristic of the British merchant.

THE COUNCIL.

On Friday, 27th December, the following bills were read a third time and passed:—The Richmond Company's Act Amendment Bill, the Property Law and Trustees' Relief Bill, and the Navigable Waters' Protection Bill. Mr. ROBERTSON, in moving the adjournment of the House, said, that that was the last time he should sit in the Council, and acknowledged the kindness he had received from hon, members.

On Wednesdow, 8th the Levileit.

On Wednesday, 8th, the Legislative Council sat to receive messages from the Assembly; but the reception did not occupy more than five minutes, and the business of the House was done at twenty minutes to five p.m.

On Friday, 10th, the assent of the Governor was received to the Insolvent Law Amendment Bill, the Judicial and other Offices Qualification Bill, the Murray River Customs Bill, and the Tobacco Duties Bill.—The New South Wales and Queensland Customs Bill, the Unlawful Administering of Poison Law Amendment Bill, and the Palse Pretences Law Amendment Bill were gone through in committee.

Amendment Bill were gone through in committee.

On Monday, 13th, Mr. Merrener, on behalf of the President, brought up a progress report from the Select Committee on the Legislative Council Bill with cridence, and a recommendation that the committee be reappointed next session.—Four messages were brought up from the Assembly. 1. The Bland Annuity Bill; 2. The Osborne Wallsend Coul Company's Bill; 3. The Verdicts of Felo-de-se Amendment Bill; and 4. The Police Bill. All these bills were read a first time. The New South Wales and Queensland Customs Bill; the Unlawful Administering of Poison Law Amendment Bill; and the "False Fretences Law Amendment Bill" were read a third time and passed.

read a third time and passed.

On Tuesday, 14th, the Police Regulation Bill was read a second time. The second reading of the Bland Annuity Bill was moved by Mr. FITZOERALD. It was opposed by Mr. DARVALL, Mr. CAMPBELL, and Mr. MITCHELL; but the second reading was carried by a majority of five to four,—Mr. Robey having voted slso against the bill.—The Osborne Wallsend Coal Company's Bill and the Law of Felo-de-se Amendment Bill were read a second time.

sho against the bill.—The Osborne Wallsend Coal Company's Bill and the Law of Felo-de-se Amendment Bill were read a second time.

On Wednesday, 15th, Mr. Merrwrerr, in pursuance of notice, asked information as to the intention of the Government with respect to new Parliasuentary buildings. From the reply of the Antonexy to the Council Chamber with the necessary offices, and a Chamber for the Legislatire Assembly with necessary offices, the estimated cost being £121, $52.—The Police Regulation Bill was gone through, and agreed to, with the addition of a clause proposed by Sir W. Manning, to the effect that the clauses providing penalties should not be taken to diminish, restrict, or affect the liabilities which they lie under in the present state of the law for 1852.—The Appropriation Bill was brought up and read a first time.—The Council went into committee on the "Bland Annuity Bill," and the enacting clause was agreed to. The preamble led to some discussion. Mr. Fitzorrale expressed his willingness to withdraw that portion of it which referred to Dr. Bland's connection with the Patriotic Association. Mr. Gondon intimated his intention of going into the whole question on the bringing up the report of the committee of the whole, being opposed to putting his hands into the pockets of the public for such purpose. Mr. Kenr said he should oppose the bill at the third reading, considering that if assistance were to be given it should be privately, and not out of the public purse. The preamble was amended, and the bill was reported with amendments. A motion by Mr. Fitzorrale for the suspension of the Standing Orders in order to carry the bill through all its stages was objected to by Mr. Rought of the report be an order of the day for to-morrow. Mr. Gondon moved, as an amendment, that the sdoption of the report be an order of the day for to-morrow. The bill was consequently lost.—The Osborne Wallsend Coal Company's Bill wa ting to verticus of reto de se: and both were reported without amendment.

On Thursday, 16th, the Loan Bill was brought up from the Assembly, and read a first time.—
The Attonner-General moved the suspension of the Standing Orders, to allow of the Loan Bill passing through all its stages at one sitting, and stated, with reference to the Appropriation Bill, that the Government looked upon the Assembly's reduction of the salary of the President of the Council as an ill-considered vote, and intended to take steps for restoring the salary to its original amount, and for placing the department of the Council in an independent position. Mr. Menawarnen opposed the suspension of the Standing Ordera, the Loan Bill being too important a measure to be disposed of hastily. He was glad to hear the promise of the Government with regard to the President's salary, and hoped after that explanation the House would agree to the Appropriation Bill.—The motion, being opposed, it fell to the ground.—The following bills were read a third time and passed:—Osborne Wallsend Company's Bill, Law of Pelo de se Amendment Bill, and Police Regulation Bill.—The Appropriation Bill was gone the property to the property of the pro

Felo de se Amendment Bill, and Police Kegulation Bill.—The Appropriation Bill was read a second time.

On Priday, 17th, the Appropriation Bill was gone through in committee, and sent to the Assembly without amendments, but with an addition to the ordinary message as follows:—"The Council has refrained from exercising its right of amending this bill by restoring the salary of the President to its established amount, on the assurance only of the Government that, in the ensuing session of Parliament, a supplementary vote will be proposed for the purpose, and that the Legislature will be invited to consider a bill for placing the salaries of the officers and servants of the Council upon a permanent and independent basis."—On the Loan Bill being taken into committee a question arose as to the power of the Council to interfere in any way with money bills. The question was reported to the Heuse, the Chairman having decided in deference to a previous ruling of the President that the committee could not alter. After a short debate, the President ruled that the Council had the power of altering money bills, declaring that his first ruling was erroneous. Everal motions for the omission of various items were put, but were negatived on division. The bill was then gone through and reported without amendments, was read a third time and passed, and returned to the Assembly.

THE ASSEMBLY.

On Monday, 23rd December, the House went into committee to consider the amendments of the Legislative Council on the Publicans' Licensing Bill, a number of verbal amendments were passed without division, and the report of the committee having been adopted, the bill was returned to the Legislative Council as reported.—The House went into committee on the Police Regulation Bill. On clause 21, providing for the superannuation of officers, considerable discussion arose in regard to the principle of pensions, which several hon. members maintained was embodied in the clause, and particularly in a provise at the end. Mr. Dalolins, Mr. Dickson, Mr. Laray, and Mr. Piddington spoke against the clause, Dr. Laro, Mr. Holl, Mr. Forster, and Mr. Cowper, in its favour. Finally the clause passed without direston, Mr. Cowper having promised to recommit it, in order that the provise might be struck out, which was not then practicable, as the committee had resolved against leaving out the provise at its last sitting. Clause 22, specifying conditions of superannuation, and clause 23, providing gratuities in certain cases, were agreed to without amendment or division. In clause 24, imposing forfeiture of superannuation claims in cases of felony and other misconduct, Mr. Cowpen proposed various amendments, all of which he afterwards withdrew. The clause was objected to by many honmembers, and carried by 17 to 4. Clause 25, providing imprisonment in default of payment of fines, Mr. Witson on the amendment, it was found that only 19 members were present, which having been duly reported to the House, the Strakers, still finding the number deficient, declared the House adjourned.

On Monday, 30th, the House having gone into Com-nittee of Supply, resumed immediately, to allow Mr.

Hugh Gordon, recently elected member for Tenterfield, to take the oaths and his seat; after which the House again went into Committee. On the item £3035 for certain pensions Mr. Dalolinn moved the omission of £200 for a p. sion to Lady Mitchell.
The motion was negatived by 21 to 13, and the item passed by 25 to 9. On the next item of £5923, for expenses of the Legislative Council, much discussion ensued. A motion by Mr. Sadlen, to reduce the salary of the President from £1200 to £1000, was carried by 19 to 17. Another by the same hen, gentleman to reduce the salary of Chairman of Committees from £500 to £300, was negatived by 28 to 7. Another by Mr. Dalolins to reduce the salary of the Clerk of the Council from £800 to £700, was carried by 19 to 17. The reduced item was then carried without division. On the next item of £8856, for expenses of the Assembly, Mr. Dalolins moved the reduction of the Speaker's salary from £1500 to £1200, which was the ameunt for the present year. This motion was carried without division. Mr. Laxar moved that the salary of the Clerk of the Assembly be reduced from £300 to £700, by way of equalising it to that of the asme officer in the Council. This motion was negatived by 33 to 6. £400 for house rent to the Speaker was struck out, on the motion of Mr. Laxar, and the reduced item passed. A sum of £2111 for joint expenses of the two Houses was passed. The item, £4754, for the establishment of the Chief Secretary, was passed after several unsuccessful motions for reduction. £7250, for the Registrar-General's department, was also passed. £30,000 for "Denominational Schools," passed without division. A reduction of £550 for contingencies was moved by Mr. Sadlen on the next item of £4214 for the Protestant Orphan Schools, here some discussion the amendment was negatived, and the item passed without division, as also another item, £4500, for the Roman Catholic Orphan School. The House resumed, and the Spriaker declared it adjourned.

On Turksday, 314, on the motion of Mr. Cowren,

Orphan School. The House resumed, and the Spraker declared it adjourned.

On Tursday, 31st, on the motion of Mr. Cowpen, the Licensed Publicans Bill was transmitted to the Legislative Council, with a message intimating that the Assembly agreed to certain amendments of the Council, and disagreed with others.—Mr. Suspraked moved the adoption of the report from the select committee on the services of the Rev. W. B. Clarke. The hon. member after expressing his gratification that the Government had anucipated the object of the report, by proposing to place on the Estimates a sum for an annuity to Mr. Clarke, warmly expatisted on the eminent geological labours and services of the rev. gentleman, as constituting a claim to public recognition. The report was adopted.—Mr. Wilson moved resolutions, of which the substance was that the gold duty ought not to be levied after June 30, 1862. The hon. member gave a brief history of the several occasions on which the opinion of the House had been expressed upon this subject, showed how constantly these opinions had bren disregarded by the Government, and dwelt upon the injustice of having taken of a duty from tobacco, to benefit a few constituents of the Colonial Treasurer, while the gold duty was retained in opposition to the strong feeling of the miners. Mr. Werkers complained of the unfairness of introducing a motion similar to one introduced a few weeks since, with the same speech and illustrations. The Tobacco Bill had been passed to remedy a blunder. The Government had always shown their disposition to abolish the gold duty, but would prefer choosing a better opportunity. However, he did not know whether he should not vote for the motion. A discussion ensued, subsequently Mr. Durver called attention to the state of the House, and the Sprakers, finding only seventeen members present, declared it adjourned.

On Thursday, 2nd January, Mr. Werker moved the suspensition of the Standing Orders, in order to pass discussion ensued, subsequently Mr. Driver called attention to the state of the House, and the Spraker, finding only seventeen members present, declared it adjourned.

On Thursdoy, 2nd January, Mr. Where moved the supension of the Standing Orders, in order to pass through all its stages in one day, a bill to authorise a treaty with the Gurensland Government respecting border customs. The hon, member based the necessity for this motion on the importance of the bill in question, and the uncertainty of passing it during the present session without adopting the course he proposed. Several hon, members opposed the motion, uttimately it was carried by 28 to 9. The bill, having been introduced, was then passed through all its stages as far as the third reading. On the second reading a brief discussion took place, in which Mr. Pidding a brief discussion took place, in which Mr. Dickson joined. The third reading was deferred until a later period of the evening.—On the motion of Mr. Cowpen, the Police Bill was restored to the paper.—On the order of the day for going into committee of Supply, Mr. Forsyrar moved an amendment, which amounted to an expression of opinion on the part of the House that the next session should commence not later than the first week in May. The hon, member, after pointing out the inconvenience of sitting at a late period of the year during the summer, when so few members were able to attend to their duties, and arguing that the motion was not properly an interference with the prerogative, and that even if it were, the House had a right, by advising the Crown, to interfere indirectly for the public good, showed moreover that, owing to the sadvanced state of preparation of most of the important measures which would occupy next session, Ministers did not really require any long interval to provide for the next meeting with the House. Mr. Cowpen admitted the inconvenience of sitting late, and in the summer, but denied that matters would be remedied by meeting early in the year. Patliament had on form Police, was, after some conversation, postponed until the late of the Police Bill should be decided. Considerable discussion arose on the next item, £37,331, for gaols and penal establishments, particularly with reference to the appointment of an inspector of prisons,—a new office—and to certain improvements in the penal system contemplated by the Government. Mr. Dalolansu moved the reduction of the inspector's salary from £800 to £600, which, after further discussion, was negatived by 26 to 9.—On the motion of Mr. Werkers, the House resumed, to enable the bill to authorise a treaty respecting border customs between Queensland and this colony, to be read a third time, which was done, and the bill transmitted to the Legislative Council.—The House having gone back into committee, Mr. Dalolansu moved the omission of a sub-item of £120 for the salary of a Church of England chaplain, which was negatived by 32 to 4. The same hon, member then moved the omission of £50 for a Prebylerian chaplain, which was negatived by 32 to 4. The total item was then carried without division. £1160 for the Observatory, £44 for the Medical Board, £1477 for the Vaccine Institution, £18,846 for Lunatic Asylums, £5000 for the Naval allowance, and £15,525 for the Military allowance were granted. The stem, £20,000 for Volunteers, led to considerable debate. Mr. Dalolansu moved, in succession, that it be reduced to £10,000 and £12,000, onto of which motions were negatived, respectively, by 22 to 9, and 24 to 9. Pinally, the sum was reduced to £18,600, on the motion of Mr. Winderen. A sum of £4250 was granted for a naval brigade, and another of £25,027 for charitable allowances. The item, £20,000, "to be raised by loan," for juvenile reformatories, was objected to by several hon, members, chiefly on account of the loan, and defended by others. The item was passed by 28 to 3. The item £300, on the motion was carried by 15 to 14, and the total item, so reduced, without division. Ar sum of £4200 was granted for a naval brigade, and another of £2 resumed, and immediately adjourned.

On Friday, 3rd, the law of Felo-de-se Amendment Bill was read a second time, and passed through its other stages as far as the third reading, which was fixed for Friday ucxt.—Mr. Lawrs moved the second reading of the Coal Fields Regulation Bill, showing its necessity from the dangers and difficulties the coal-miners had to contend with. Mr. Cowras would vote against the second reading, as he did not see the possibility of passing the bill this session. After a brief debate, the bill was read a second time, Mr. Lawis consented to let it lapse for the present.—On the motion of Mr. Ponstras, the Criminal Law and Practice Amendment Bill was read a third time, and forwarded to the Legislative Council.—The same process was gone through with the False Fretences Law

Amendment Bill, on the motion of Mr. Holmord.
On the motion of Mr. Garrett, the Osborne Wallsend Coal Company's Incorporation Bill was read a second time, and passed through its other stages to the third reading.—On the motion of Mr. Holmord, the unlawful administering of Poison Law Amendment Bill was read a third time, and transmitted to the Legislative Council —On the motion of Mr. Garrett, the Bellambi and Bulli Coal Company's Bill was referred to a select committee.

On Monday 6th the House went into Committee of was read a third time, and transmitted to the Legislative Council—On the motion of Mr. Gangerr, the Bellambi and Bulli Coal Company's Bull was referred to a select committee.

On Monday 6th, the House went into Committee of Supply. A sum of £4827 for law officers of the Crown, and another of £8937 for Supreme and Circuit Courts, were passed without division. After some conversation on the next item, £6732, for the Sheriff's Department, Mr. Cowper consented to its reduction to £6657, which was the amount granted last year. Mr. Dirck moved the reduction of the Sheriff's salary from £665 to £550, which, after a brief discussion, was negatived by 30 to 6. On the next item, £1505, Mr. Dirck moved the omission of a sub-item of £600 for the salary of registrar and accountant, a new office, created by the New Insolvency Act, and the necessity of which was strongly insisted on by Mr. Cowper. After discussion, the omission was negatived by 18 to 15. The reduction of a clerk's salary from £300 to £250, which was the amount for last year, was moved by Mr. Dalollela, and agreed to. Other reductions were proposed but negatived on division. A sum of £20,251 for District Courts was agreed to after some debate. On the next item, £8464, for Quarter Sessions, considerable discussion arose in regard to travelling expenses of Judges and Crown Prosecutors. Finally the reduction of a sub-item of £1450 for these parposes to £1000 was moved by Mr. Salling, and circk, as also the item thus reduced, without division. The next item, £3934, for coroners, was objected to by several hon. members, on the ground that the office was unnecessary, and that magisterial enquiries were sufficient in all cases of death under supplicious circumstances. Other honorable members defended the office, while others insisted on its being required in Sydney of Coroner and the supplication of a sun of £130, for coroners fees, which Mr. Cowper explained would be appropriated for the payment of magistrates, as well as of coroners. The omission of £300 for the sa merely local interest.

On Wednesday, 8th, on the motion by Mr. When as for going into committee of supply, Mr. Piddinson, at some length, went into various details to show how "egregiously wrong" the Colonial Treasurer's estimate of revenue for the last quarter of 1861 had turned out, being in fact deficient by some £04,000 or £05,000. Mr. Weskas maintained that never since responsible government began, had the revenue been in so satisfactory a state. Admitting the miscalculation in regard to the land revenue, which was not to be wondered at under the circumstances, his Estimate had been exceeded in a number of other instances. The House then went into committee of supply. A sum of £37,910 for atores and stationery in the department of £18,200 for printing, bookbinding, and postage stamps, were passed after some discussion. On the item £23,373, for harbours, lighthouses, and pilot department, considerable discussion arose having reterence chiefly to the travelling expenses of the Board, harbour masters, and surveyors, and to the duties of pilots, after which the total item was carried without division. £11,263 for miscellaneous services, was then passed. Under the head of the Department of Lands. £4650 for expenses of the central office, and £62,691 for survey of lands, were voted. £10,335, for expenses connected with the occupation of Crown lands, after two motions for reduction, passed without division. On the item £3584, for expenses of immigration office, Mr. Puddinoron moved the omission of a sum of £630 for the salary of agent. Considerable discussion took place on the general question of immigration office, for the salary of agent. Considerable discussion took place on the general question of immigration office, for the salary of agent. The proportion of £183 for the salary of agent. Considerable discussion of $400. Carried by $20 to 15. Mr. Leanky, and carried by 131 to 14. A sum of £250 for the salary of an extra clerk was moved by Mr. Dalolinia, Mr. Honkins, Mr. Honkins, Mr. Honkins, Mr. Honkins, Mr.

aborigines, and another of £5019 for miscellaneous purposes.

On Thursday, 9th, a Bill to extend the powers of Trustees in certain cases, was received from the Legislative Council, and on the motion of Mr. Cowper read a first time. The Committee of Supply was postponed temporarily, and the House went into committee on the Police Bill. Clause 26, providing imprisonment in default of payment of penalties, was passed; clause 37 expunged; clause 28, authorising the Governor to appoint place of imprisonment, passed with a slight alteration; clause 29 expunged; clause 30 providing appeal, clause 31 giving protection to constables, clause 23 authorising disposal of effects of constables dying intestate, clause 33 giving sower to sell unclaimed stricles in possession of police, clause 34 bringing Police Reward and Supersanuation Funds within the bill, and clause 35 (and last) entitling the bill, were agreed to. An improved clause was substituted for clause 5, giving power to frame rules. On another new clause, proposed by Mr. Cowper in place of clause 17, authorising the Governor to institute enquiry in cases of misconduct, considerable discussion arose, and Mr. Rebana moved an amendment giving power to magistrates to enquire. Mr. Redman's amendment having been adopted, Mr. PIDDINGTON moved another giving ordinary megistrates power of dismissal, which was negatived by 21 to 11. The new clause was then negative, and the preamble passed without division. The House baving resumed, the bill was recommitted to reconsider clauses 3 and 21. In the former the consumitee decided on retaining certain words, purporting to give direct control over the police to the Colonial Secretary, by 22 to 8 From the latter a provise was strack out, purporting to enable Parlisment to supplement the police superannustion fund. The House having resumed, the Parlisment to supplement the police superannustion fund.

next.—The House then went into Committee of Supply, to consider the Police Estimates. For this purpose a sum of £172,072 was moved by Mr. Cowran. Several of the minor items were opposed by two members and were negatived on division. QUARTZ-CRUSHING MACHINE AT THE MINT.

DURING a recent session of Parliament the sum of f1000 was voted by the Assembly for the construction of an experimental quartz-crushing machine at the Mint. Shortly afterwardsstep swere taken for carrying out the work, and within the last few weeks the machine has been completed, and has commenced operations. The process is tolerably familiar to those engaged in gold-mining, but the apparatus being constructed at the public expense for the purpose of testing the auriferous richness of our quartz-reefs, a description of the machine may have the effect of bringing it into more prominent notice.

The machine constructed at the Mint is on the same principle as those at work at the Clunes mines, in Victoria, with the addition of the improved method of working the stampers upon the rotary principle, the advantage of which is an equal wearing of the dies and the effectual crushing of the quartz. A plan prepared by Mr. John Dunlop, proposing some improvements upon the ordinary machines, was approved of, and the was at the outset engaged to superintend the construction of the machine; subsequently, however, some alterations in Mr. Dunlop's plan were determined on, and the completion of the work was carried on under the direction of Mr. Tricket, the Superintendent of the Coining Department. The castings for the machine were by Mr. Dawson, and the fittings were prepared in the Mint workshop. The framework of the machine is of cast iron resting upon stone foundations raised about three feet above the ground, so as to give a fall for the amalgumator.

sport of the Charges contribution, its or that quoisersation, but it is a special control of the Charges control o numerous and virulent when the wheel of fortune does not roll but spin. The laws under which mind preserves its freedom and vigour, are probably as fixed and intelligible as those which govern the atmosphere. When the barometer discloses a certain tendency, the farmer and the mariner act accordingly. The warnings of the mind given through the sensations of the brain are often unnoticed until it is too late. How many men we meet with who are driven from their counting-houses and professions by a softening of the of the brain. Were they to sprain an ankle the pain would warn them to rest; but they continue to overload the mind, and measuring their task, not by its strength to endure, but the extent of business to be done, accounts to be east up, or letters to be written are arrested only by a mental smash. They save a few score pourds by this tyranny over themselves, but nature sinks under the yoke, and the consequence is premature weakness, imbecility, and decay.

As, however, no considerations of this kind will affect the conduct of most men—as a certain proportion will go mad, and that in a ratio to the population rather increasing, we are bound to pay the closest attention to institutions for the treatment of the insane. We understand there are several occasional patients of Tarban Creek who indicate an appreaching crisis by paying, a few weeks before their actual entrance, a friendly visit to this setablishment. We should recommend this course to several honorable gentlemen. Doubless both before and during the crisis, the impression of the good condition of the asylum has a sanatory influence. It is impossible to imagine how much the disease may be assuaged and softened by the removal from the minds of the people the terror of a "mad house." Even a name must be of some importance, as it conveys the idea of a retreat or a prison. Thousands of poor people prefer to die in a hovel, in a stifling atmosphere, and amidst neglect and privation, because the infirmary is coupled with the notion of sharp practice, har its occurrence, must have trembled through life at the idea of such a scene as the madhouse of the old style displays.

We are glad to learn that Dr. Campbell has found it pessible to relieve the insane people under his care of all kinds of manacles; that straight waistocats are not used.

Such violent methods of treatment are necessary only when the force at command is insufficient, and the surveillance unskilful and imperfect. It would break any man's heart to see his wife or daughters subject to the coarse, rough hands which formerly managed the insane. Never can human beings have stronger claims on our tendarness, and in few diseases is it more important to recovery.

We understand the Asylum at Tarban Creek is now supplied with superior warders, who obtain—women 450 and men 260 per annum, besides board and lodging—money well carned, indeed, but which we doubt not gives a choice where selection is most necessary. A superior class are the least costly in the long run. Many a case of temporary insanity has become fixed by the want of skill and kindness in its management, and thus expense prolonged through life.

The site of Tarban Creek Asylum is, we are in-become fixed by the want of skill and kindness in the management, and thus expense prolonged through life.

The site of Tsrhan Creek Asylum is, we are informed by competent judges, admirably adapted for the institution. There are about 300 scres of land, and good water, a pure air, and fine prospect. The great deficiency is in sleeping apartments, the dininghalls being used for that purpose. There are some buildings in progress, and when completed there will be room for 400. It must be of great importance both to the health and the tranquility of patients, that as little deviation as possible should be perceivable from their accommodation when at large. To be huddled in a heap would be enough to generate madness. The original plan being for sixty patients only, of course, the vast increase requires an extensive adaptation.

We do not know any officer whose services are more onerous and less required than that of Dr. Campbell,

We do not know any officer whose services are more onerous and less requited than that of Dr. Campbell, considering his great professional experience and respensibility. For fourteen years he has had charge of the institution, and has received in the course of this long campaign many a dangerous wound—of some the effects are permanent. He has persevered notwithstanding in the humane system of treatment, which is only unsafe when the medical superior confides in it, to the neglect of proper assistance and watchfulness. These can only be secured by sufficient classification and attendance. The insane themselves often resist the disorderly, and in more than one instance have averted a blow from Dr. Campbell that would have been mortal.

There are some things in which the country would be rather extravagant than parsimonious. We should none of us grudge any outlay necessary to relieve the greatest, and we may almost say the most common ill to which fiesh is heir. No wisdom, virtue, temperance, or caution, can give security against diseases of the mind. If we are not unmoved at the decline of great fortunes, much more must we be touched by the spectacle of a fine mind in ruins. Society owes its care especially to such who suffer under a heavy affliction, especially as it may fall suddenly in happiest households, and seize the noblest and best among us. We greatly need a well conducted private asylum, and are glad to hear that one is likely to be established.

OUR GOLD FIELDS.

The history of our gold-fields during the past month is uneventful and consequently without interest. The greater part of the diggers' time has been given up to the sports, pastines, and enjoyments of the search, and it always takes them a long time to get back again to work, when once they have a "spell." The Christmas and New Year's holidays have been kept up with horse-racing and other sports likely to dry the miners together, and to put money in the pockets of the sellers of strong drink. They are but jug with horse-racing and other sports likely to dry the miners together, and to put money in the pockets of the sellers of strong drink. large amount of gold is being sent down to Sydney from them. Of this gold we get no account, as it invariably comes down by private hands. Samples of the yield have latterly been brought to our office for inspection; and we are informed that several good fortunes have been made here, by lucky miners in a very short space of time.

From Sofals we learn that a ton of the quarts from Kesrney's reef has been carted to the mill and tested. It turned out 3 ozs. 5 dwts. of clean gold—an amount quite sufficient to make its working highly remunerative. A large number of Chinese have returned from a temporary migration to the southward, and are now fast spreading themselves once more along the babks of the Turon and the Meroo.

Four quartz reefs have been discovered and opened the banks of the Turon and the Meroe.

Four quartz reefs have been discovered and opened at Tuena Creek. They appear to be very rich, the gold being clearly visible to the naked eye, but as yet they have not been tested. Should they turn out to be only one-tenth as rich as they are expected to be, Tuena will soon recover from the depression it at present languishes under.

Several small parcels of gold have been received from the miner diggings at the heads of the Clarence, but we have no news in respect to them.

THE INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION.

The remaining portion of the contributions from this colony to the International Exhibition will be forwarded by the P. and O. Company's steamer Northam, which conveys this mail. The bulk of the samples of colonial produce and manufacture were shipped in December last; but as it was impracticable to collect at that time samples of the new clip of wool, it was arranged that a supplementary exhibition should be held in January—to be devoted to samples of our great staple—and that these should be sent home by the mail steamer. The exhibition accordingly took place last week, and drew a cunsiderable number of visiters, chiefly, however, consisting of pursons who were 'interested in the production or the export of wool.

As with other classes of natural products, prizes of silver and bronze medials were offered by the Commissioners for the best samples of wool. In order, however, further to stimulate the flockowners to contribute some of their best floces, and thereby to ensure a thoroughly satisfactory and creditable representation of our chief staple at the International Exhibition, Messra. Mort and Co. liberally offered three gold medals, as prizes, severally, for the best samples—of fleece wool washed on the sheep's back, of scoured wool, and of fleece wool in the grease. The result of this twofold inducement was a splendid collection of wools, comprising forty-five samples, of which those competent to form an opinion express the very highest admiration.

The following gentlemen acted as jurcos:—Mr. J. H. Atkinson, Mr. W. Bray, Mr. G. R. Hirst, Mr. A. Hinchdiffe, Mr. R. Kummerer, and Mr. J. Lausseigne; and on behalf of Commissioners, Sir W. Macarthur, Mr. T. S. Mort, and Mr. E. S. Hill.

The prizes awarded on behalf of Messrs. Mort and Co. were as follows.—

1. For the best sample of not less than six fleeces of sheep's wool in the grease—Messrs. G. H. and A. B. Cos. (notto, XX I), the prize being awarded by the casting vote of the chairman.

11. For the best sample of not less tha

MONTHLY COMMERCIAL REVIEW.

THE last month of the year 1861 was not marked by any alteration in the state of the money market, and the rates of discount rule the same as they have done throughout the year, viz., 7, 8, and 9 per cent.

throughout the year, viz., 7, 8, and 9 per cent.

In the rates of exchange charged by the banks, the fluctuations during the past year have been very triffing, the rates ranging from $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. discount to 1 per cent. premium; but since the arrival of the English mail, with news of a probability of war with America, they have raised the selling rate for bills in London at 60 days to 2$\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. premium, and the busing rate to 1 ner cent. premium.

London at 60 days to 2½ per cent. premium, and the buying rate to 1 per cent. premium.

At the commencement of the year, 1861, the insolvencies were above the average, but during the last three months they have been unimportant.

The revenue for the year 1861 has been published in the Geacette, and amounts to £1,455,778 10s. 8d. In 1860, the revenue was £1,336,168 5s. 10d. There is, therefore, an increase of £119,610 4s. 10d., or 8 per cent. on the year. It is gratifying to find that there is an increase in the receipts of all the principal heads of revenue, and that, notwithstanding the separation of Queensland, the revenue is only £34,000 under what it was in the year 1859.

Since our last Summary the above mathematical the principal of the property of the second of the secon and that, notwithstanding the separation of Queens, and that, notwithstanding the separation of Queensland, the revenue is only $84,000 under what it was in the year 1859.

Since our last Summary the share market has been pretty active, and prices generally have advanced. The amount of capital offering for investment has been fully equal to the stock offered for sale, and this, together with the approaching half-yearly meetings, have strengthened prices, and in some cases caused an advance. Bank stock is in good request. Commercial Bank shares have been much sought after, and as it is expected that their half-yearly report will be very astisfactory, they have improved 16s, per share. Bank of New South Wales shares are firm, and holders are expecting an advance. Australian Joint Stock Bank shares restedy at last month's rates. Union Bank shares have been sold at £40, but there are few of these shares offering. Steam shares continue to be sought after. Australiasin Steam Navigation Company's shares are again in demand, and have improved 10s, per share, and at this price there are buyers. Their half-yearly report, it is anticipated, will be satisfactory. Hunter River New Steam Navigation Company's shares not quite so firm, and have given way about 5s, per share. Illawarra Steam Navigation Company's shares are enquired for, and have improved 20s, per shares. Illawarra Steam Navigation Company's shares are enquired for, and have improved 20s, per share, and at this price there are buyers. Gas shares are stendy at quotations. In Marine Assurance Shares here have been med et an advance of 5s, to 7s, 6d, per share. Clarence and Richmond River Steam Navigation Company's shares are stendy at quotations. The quantity of gold-dust received from our several gold-fields during the month of December has amounted to 35,170 cunces. For the corresponding month of 1880, the receipts were 25,696 cunces. The increase on the month is, therefore, 6864 cunces, or 23 per cent. During the year 1890, the quantity of gold delivered by the escorts amounted to 355,228 cunces. For the year 1861 the quantity has reached 403,139 cunces, which is an increase of 47,811 cunces, or 13 per cent. on the year. The principal fasture of the year has been the opening of the Burnangeng and Lachiam gold-fields, and the yield from the former has added considerably to the receipts from the Southern gold-fields.

From this statement it will be seen that the yield from the Southern gold-fields has increased 59,855 ounces, or about 34 per cent. There is, however, a diminution in the receipts from the Western gold-fields of 5538 ounces, or 4 per cent., and on the Northern of 6568 ounces, or 18 per cent.

To show the steady improvement that has taken place in the receipts from our gold-fields, we append the smounts delivered by the escorts alone during the last five years:

The Customs Revenue collected at the port of Sydney during the month of December has amounted to £61,544 11s. 8d. For the corresponding month of 1860 the receipts were £47,249 9s. 4d. There is therefore an increase of £4295 2s. 4d., or 9½ per cent. on the month. During the year 1860 the amount of duties collected was £560,171 16s. 2d. During the year 1861 the receipts have amounted to £587,090 2s. 11d., which is an increase of £26,918 5s. 9d., or 4½ per cent. It is satisfactory to find that the Customs Revenue shows this improvement, and is now nearly equal to what it was in 1859, before the separation of Queensland.

The following table will show the amounts received monthly during the years 1860 and 1861:—

POLITICAL SUMMARY.

Parliament was prorogued yesterday by his Excellency Sir John Young, after an unusually short session of four months and a half. Short as the session was, the congratulations of the Governor upon the successful result of the labours of the two Houses were quite appropriate, as a larger number of important measures have been passed within that period than during any previous session. This circumstance is obviously owing to some of the principal questions having bern already so thoroughly debated that the minds of the members were fully made up with regard to them; and it was felt that the time had arrived to substitute action for deliberation. Accordingly, the Land Bills were within a few days after Parliament reassembled passed rapidly through the Lower House with someoly a single alteration, and were without any material amendments agreed to by the Council; the new nominees, though disapproving of the Government land policy, considering that, under the circumstances of the case, they were to some extent bound to endorse the proceedings of the other branch of the Legislature. A similar view was taken by the Council with regard to the bill for excluding the Chinese: that measure though strongly reproduced as being at variance with international treaties, as well as being at variance with international treaties, as well as being intrinsically suicada and unjust, was accepted mainly on the ground of its having been passed by the representatives of the people. Although on every occasion when this privinges were called in question the nominees have asserted their rights as a co-ordinate branch of the Legislature, the character of their appointments has undoubtedly operated to induce their assent to measures sent up to them from the Assembly, which they would have felt themselves justified in rejecting if they had held their seats directly by the will of the people. The proceedings of the new Council have consequently been marked by a series of dignified concessions to the popular will as expresse

Besides the Land Acts and the Chinese Regulation Acts, measures have been passed this session for the regulation of the gold-fields, for the consolidation of the police force, for the better administration of the Insolvent Laws, and for the revision of the licensing arrangements. All of these measures were originated in the Assembly, and received few and unimportant alterations while passing through the measures were criginated in the Assembly, and received few and unimportant alterations while passing through the Council.

The relect committee of the Council appointed to consider the provisions of the Government bill for altering the constitution of that House have brought up a progress report. The committee, of which Mr. Wentworth was the chairman, had hid before them a draft of clauses embodying Mr. Hane's system of election, and they recommend the resuppointment of the committee early next session, in order further to consider that document, and also the general question referred to them.

The principal subject of discussion in the Assembly during the past month was the Estimates for 1852, which have been passed pretty much in the state in which they were sent down. Several motions for reductions were made, but there was an evident disposition to bring the sersion to a close, and the amendments were mostly negatived after short discussions. Almost the only reduction of importance was that of the salary of the President of the Legislative Council from £1200 to £1000, which was carried by a very small majority, and against the Government. Upon moving the first reading of the Appropriation Bill in the reduction of the President's salary was regarded by the Government as an ill-considered act, and that they intended next session to introduce a supplementary estimate for restoring it to its original amount. With that explanation the Council passed the Appropriation Bill without discussion.

the Council passed the Appropriation Bill without discussion.

The introduction into the Council of a Loan Bill—to authorise the borrowing of £1,783,370, chiefly for public works—gave rise to one of those constantly-recurring disputes as to the powers of the Upper House with regard to money bills. Objection was taken by some of the mombers to the system of borrowing, and also specially to some of the items for which loans were to be raised; and on the committal of the bill an amendment for the reduction of the amount was proposed. The point of order—whether an amendment in a money bill could be entertained—was, thereupon, discussed, and the President, who had four months since ruled that the Council had no power to alter money bills, now reversed his decision (which he stated had been given before he was acquainted with the previous proceedings of the Council), and intimated that the House might make what amendments they thought proper in the Loan Bill. The items were thereupon discussed, and some omissions were proposed, but these were severally negatived, and the bill passed through all its stages without amendments.

Two invoctant bills, having for their object the invocent tived, and the ball passed inrough an its stages without amendments.

Two important bills, having for their object the improvement of the law with respect to the titles to land, had been passed by the Council, and were amongst a few important measures which, in order to bring the session to a close, had to be discharged from the paper in the Assembly. These bills, which had received the revision and approval of the able legal members of the Upper House, will be reintroduced early next session, and will probably meet with a more propriations fals.

on the tramway, and also that there would be some sharp curves in the line, the flanges would either have been made proportionably deep, or another kind of rail would have been substituted. It was evidently expected that the line would be perfectly straight, and that only the narrow flanged cars would traverse it, and that only the narrow flanged cars would traverse it, and the rail patented by Mr. Samuel and Mr. Train, being an improvement upon that laid down at Birkenhead, was considered suitable to the supposed circumstances of the case. If the rails could have been used as intended, their height above the roadway (less than half-an-inch) would have been be trifling as to present little, if any, obstruction to the traffic, as the road would have been made level, with the raised flange of the rail outside and with the lower part of it inside. In order, however, to adapt the rails to the requirements of the tramway they have been turned, and the raised flanges are consequently laid on the inside, which necessitates a clear fall of an inch within the rails, and as the readway is not pitched, the fall is in some places much greater. It is the frequent contact of the wheels of vehicles with the inside of the rails that constitutes the only ground of complaint at present preferred against the tramway, the tries of wheels having been occasionally taken of by the rails, and consequences of a more serious character being incurred unless great care is taken in driving. When the wheel of a carriage once gets within the rails it is almost impossible to extricate it, unless driven out at a very sharp angle, which is not always practicable; when this is not done, in the attempt to cross the rail the wheel articles to bringing the wheel of this world and prevent out at a very sharp angle, which is not always practicable; when this is not done, in the attempt to cross the rail the wheel and indeed endangering its safety. STOCK AND SHARE LISTS.

[Barton and son.]

The share market may be said to be in a healthy state. Money is plentiful compared with the means of investment, and prices have consequently an opward tendency, which have been realised in some instances, particularised below. The political news showing the probability of a war between Great Britain and America has caused a rise in the exchange for bank bills at 60 days' sight to 25 per cent premium, and consequently a demand for Government debentures, for remittance in lieu of bills; the difference in favour of the debentures is estimated at 2 per cent.

America has caused a rise in the exchange for bank bills at 60 days' sight to 2½ per cent premium, and consequently a demand for Government debentures, for remittance in lieu of bills; the difference in favour of the debentures is estimated at 2 per cent.

Banka.—In New Booth Wales Bank shares the price has been uniform at £35, but notices now to hand, showing an advance in the control of the state of dividend declared. Union Bank shares have been done at £40. Very few shares now oftered; those on colonial revisters being held principally by residents abroad trainstant Steam shares are the favourite investment. They have now reached to £37, and are sought after at that rate, in anticipation of a favourable report and dividend to be declared on the $8th instant. Hunter River shares have hardly held the rate during last month, but the price is still maintained at £18 5a. Illawarrs Steam shares have improved at least 5 per cent, with a fair demand. And Clarence and Rishmand shares have been done at £18, when is an advance of 20s per share. The Insurance—In Marine Assurance shares little has been done. The capital is small, the business docreased, and diffused with private underwriters. General Insurance shares have been sold at last month's prices. The meeting is on the 29th. Sydney (Pire) Insurance shares are in much favour, and a good business has been done in them, at an advance of 2½ per cent, and are not now to be had at that rate. The meeting of dividend is on the fact of the state of the state, and the Woot.—During the past month, a large quantity has come to hand, and an average amount of business has been done, both privately and at auction, at satisfactory prices. Tallow—The supply has been very limited and has been mostly purchased by the trade. A few shipping parcels have been solid at 35s to 56s. Woot.—For a long time past the market for this staple has not received so severe a check in prices as was occasioned during the last week by the arrival of the English mail with news of the opening days of the London November sales. At the sales, both publicly and privately, a fail of fully 2d, her ib. was demanded by buyers, and, to place wools, had to be submitted to by owners. A very few transactions, however, took place, the bulk of the wools in hand being held over for further advance, or untrast has been fairly estimated, and considered with reference to the following Hay and July sales, to which markets shippers must now look forward. Greasy wools have suffered more than washed descriptions, nor do we expect to see them raily, scoured wools having failen very considerably in London, while the price here having failen very considerably in London, while the price here having failen very considerably in London, while the price here having failen very considerably in London, while the price here having failen very considerably in London, while the price here having failen very considerably in London, while the price here having failen very considerably in London, while the price here have done to the sheep's back.

Wool.—Since the departure of the December mail, this staple has gradually given way in price, and buyers have been unusually cautious in their operations; burry, gressy, and otherwise inherior lots have already manifested a decline of from 3d to 4d per the on prices realized last year. The arrival of the Benares with news of the probability of a rupture with the home and American Governments, this, combined with the unfavourable result of the November salea, and the general duliness of trade, has had material influence on this market, causing a still greater depression in second of the state of the second of the second of a few lots in the grasse) were disposed of at full rates.

Sheepskins have given way in proportion with wool, fell-mongers having come out losers in their skin wool. 11,500 found purchasers at from 6d to 3d for full grows; 2d to 4d per ib. for shortwooled and pelts.

Tallow.—Good sound beef has been much enquired for, and during the early part of the present month an advance of 300 per ext. has shown itself, but at the subsequent sales the price have shown a downward tendency; 4279 were brought forward and sold, thus—first heavy, lists to 18 3d; needium, 10s to 13s 2d; inferior, 3s to 9s 6d; calfekina, is 3d to 2s each.

At this season of the year; it is eldom in our power to report an active market, and in no respect is the present one an exception to this rule. The many existing causes so patent to all, and which have culminated in the alarming news from Europe by the important of the sulf property. We believe our opinion to be generally shared in the prices are not in excess of real value; for without a very considerable fall in the price of labour (and this, we apprehend, is not contemplated), it is, and will continue to be, impossible to built equal to the rates mow obtaining for real

The Rooms, Pitt-street, January 21,

As usual at the red and commencement of a year, this market has been excessively dull, and since the departure of the last mail little has been doing.

There are few eligible investments to be obtained, vendors for the most part refusing to accept market rates.

We do not anticipate that sales this year will open at higher prices than have been lately ruling, and we shall be glast to report those maintained.

City house property is enquired for, and would find buyers at figures which would yield a gross return on outlay of from 11 to its per earl, according to position and the nature of the premises. There is but little demand for unimproved lands in the city and some states of the premise of declining engolency. Good country purpose declining engolency. Good country properties, if accessible by railway or passable roads, are saleable. We are preparing to bring forward several first-class estates in the city and country, the sale of which being peremptory, will materially test the market.

Our sales for the last month have been few and unimportant, Pitt-street, 20th January.

STATIONS.—Very little alteration, it may, has attemplace in these properties since the date of our last circular. Annulries for first-rate sheep runs are still active, and show a large amount waiting for investment in these properties. The comparatively small number of good runs for bona-dies sale now in this market, or likely to be brought forward this season, has given an impetus to those parties whe have been waiting to secure a really first-class property, and come little improvement in prices may be looked for from this cause alone. RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public suction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on TUESDAY, the 28th February, at 11 o'clock,
The above first-class pastoral property.
GLENELG STATION occupies an immense extent of country, in the heart of the far-famed DARLING DOWNS, and is abundantly watered in all seasons by the MACINTERE BROOK, flowing through the run from its source, and including its numerous tributaries, the BRANCH, OAKEY, BENYLEY, and SANDY CREEKS, and CANAL GULLY, the waters of which have never been known to fail, and for years have not ceased to run. In addition to these creeks, there are several lagons and other waters distributed about the run, yielding a very large supply. The character of the country cannot be surpassed for absep-farming. It consists of sound, well-grassed ironbark ridges and rich open box flats, quite free from scrubs, and from the abundant supply of water, and its natural distribution over the run, every acre of the country is available for pasture, making the carrying capabilities of the run very great, it being estimated to carry in ordinary seasons over 40,000 SHEEP and 1000 CATTLE.

At the present time, fully one-half of the run is unstocked, a portion of it never having yet been called on to carry stock. The sheep are run in flocks of about 2000.

The improvements are of a substantial order. They comprise—
The HOMESTEAD—A cottage with shingled roof, containing wide verandahs, and seven rooms, all floored, in excellent order, and suitable for the residence of a family at once. There is a good vegetable garden, paied in and well cultivated.

The WOOLSHED is capable of accommodating thirteen shearers, and 600 sheep under cover, with large lever press. The washpool is complete, having been build at considerable expense.

The rear eight out-stations with several log-yards, and five other large log-yards in suitable places about the run, and every other convenience necessary for carrying on a property of this importance and magnitude.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH, in bringing this magnificent Pastoral Property into the market for positive sale, feel there is no necessity to add any lengthy comment to the above simple description of the Run and Stock. The attention which is bectowed by capitalists on all preperties on the far-famed Darling Downs, is sufficient evidence that a station like Glenelg, situated in the heart of the Downs, the most noted grazing country in the colonies) and possessing its immense advantages, will not be overlooked in the present market, where so few opportunities occur for acquiring a station in these renowned regions. The advantages which Glenelg possesses are so numerous, and so well known, that the Auctioneers would only direct attention to the important fact that the run, with its present number of sheep and cattle, is barely half stocked, and that no other chance is likely to arise where buyers may have the chance of obtaining a Downs Run, with so small a quantity of sheepin proportion to its capabilities, as now offered by the sale of Glenelg.

Intending purchasers are invited to inspect the property prior to the day of sale, as the breed of the sheep, the quantity and weight of the wool, the character of the greating country, are seldom combined in any property brought forward for positive sale by public competition.

The Whole of the Valuable Property known as the BREMER MILLS and BOLLING-DOWN BS-TABLISHMENT, and 640 ACRES OF LAND.

M. COCKBURN has received instruc-tions from Joseph Fleming, Esq., to sell by public auction, on the ground, on WEDNESDAY, the 12th February, at 11 o'clock precisely, The whole of the valuable property known as The Bramer Mills,

Steam four mill
Steam saw mill
Bolling-down establishment,
And 640 acres rich alluvial land, having a frontage of three miles to the navigable River Bremer.
The dour mill steam saw mill
Bolling-down establishment,
And 640 acres rich alluvial land, having a frontage of three miles to the navigable River Bremer.
The flour mill is a moet substantial structure, 68 feet long by 30 feet wide, and three stories high; the walls two feet in thickness, and built entirely of through stones, cut on both sides, no expense having been spared to obtain a thoroughly substantial structure; the floors and framing for machinery are white ironbark, being the best description of hardwood in the colonies.
There are two engines, one 16-horse power, the other 25-horse power, and the machinery-consisting of 6 pairs of French stones, patent dresser, separators, elevators, conductors, smutting machines, &c.,—is all in the most perfect order, and is so arranged that it can be driven by both engines either separately or unitedly.
The flour mill is the only one at present in Queensland, and, from the sampleteness of its machinery, it is capable of supplying the greater portion of the demand, not only for Brisbane and Ipswich, but also for the interior.
The saw mill adjoins the flour mill, and consists of a vertical saw frame, capable of cuntting logs of 4 feet diameter; also, two circular saw benches, capable of turning out about 30,000 feet of timber per week, with turning lathes, and a variety of other machinery suitable for carrying on an extensive business; the whole being driven by a 25-horse power steam-engine, and provided with all the necessary appliances of slips and transways for connecting the mill with the river. The demand for timber is daily increasing; the rapid growth of the towns, and settlement of the interior, ensuring continuous employment. The sources of supply are boundless; and easily accessible, the principal carriage from the forest to the mills is by water, and therefore at Hitle coat.

The flour and saw mills are ber of other buildings, comprising superintandent's residence, with cottages and huts for the workman employed on the premises.

Adjoining is another block, consisting of about eighty (80) acres, upon which is creeted, in a commanding position on the bank of the river, a large and commodious dwellinghouse, at present in the occupation of the proprietor. It is surrounded with a verandah, and contains an entrance hall and seven (7) large rooms, with detached kitchen, store, and servants room; and in the rear stabling for 20 horses, together with hay-iofts, workmen's cottages, and other necessary buildings.

Part of this block is laid down in lucerne, and a portion tastefully! laid out as a fruit and flower garden, well-stocked with fruit-trees, and enriched with choice abrubs and flowers.

The boiling-down establishment is 160 feet long by 40 feet wide, to which are attached all the necessary stock-yards and paddocks for the perfect working of the establishment, consisting altogether of about 100 scree of land, with workmen's huits and other improvements erected thereon.

The boiling-down establishment has not been in operation of late, but at a very trifling outlay may soon be made available, and brought into complete working order. Two establishments of this description, situate on the river Bremer, have recently recommenced operations, and from the rapid increase of stock in the immediate locality, a very remunerative business might again be created. There is an abundant supply of coal within a few miles, requiring water carriage only.

In addition to the foregoing properties, there is another paddock, containing about 318 acres, which has been partly cleared. The whole is enclosed by substantial 4 and 5 rail fences.

cleared. The whole is enclosed by substantial 4 and 5 rall fences.

The estate altogether consists of 640 acres, and has upwards of three miles of frontage to the important navigable river Bremer, which, being the great natural highway from the Bay to the interior, affords great advantages for shipment. There are six ac uners now employed in the trade between Brisbane and Ipswich, which pass the estate daily.

ment. There are six at mers now employed in the trade between Brisbane and Ipswich, which pass the estate daily.

An excellent stone quarry has been opened on the bank of the river, from which the whole of the stone used in the erection of the mill was obtained; several of the buildings in Ipswich have also been erected from stone obtained from this quarry.

The proprietor being engaged in other pursuits, which render it impossible for him to devote the time and attention necessary to the above business, is the only reason for wishing to dispose of the property.

This magnificent property, unequalled by anything of the kind in Queenaland, has been subdivided, and will be sold in tots to sait purchasers.

Plans showing the subdivision of the property, are now ready, and can be had en application at the Office of this paper, and at the Bank of Australiais, Melbourns, or Geelong.

The whole property is now open to view.

Title unquestionable.

Terms at asis.

For further particulars, apply at the Auction Booms, Richolass-street, Ipswich.
